What we're looking for

It is often said that when you limit your resources, you become more resourceful, and this competition is a celebration of that idea. I want to see just how creative you can be with a limited palette of sound, so be bold, be creative and above all have fun!

Rules

For all submissions the following rules apply:

You are allowed to:

- Use effects plugins, process, reverse, pitch shift etc... the sounds in the Try Pack. However, some sounds in your submission must be recognisable in their original form, so don't go overboard with processing.
- Write in any style or genre you wish.
- Use as many or as few sounds from the Try Pack as you want.

You are not allowed to:

- Use live recordings of any sort.
- Use any sound or virtual instrument not included in the Try Pack.
- Submit a piece longer than 90 seconds.

The competition will be judged by Bunker Samples founder Nicolaj Moeller Nielsen, and no one else. All decisions are final and there are no cash alternatives to the prizes. No individual justification, reason or feedback will be given.

RULE-BREAKING VIRTUAL INSTRUMENTS

The normal EULA for Bunker Samples products apply to the Try Pack too.

It is your responsibility to make sure that Bunker Samples can download and/or listen to your submission.

You retain ownership of your submitted piece of music, but by entering the competition you grant Bunker Samples (Nicolaj Moeller Nielsen) a license to use your submission for promotional purposes, including posting it on Bunker Samples website and social media channels.

How to submit

Bounce your finished piece of music out as an MP3 or WAV and upload it to a file sharing service of your choice, such as DropBox, Google Drive, WeTransfer or similar. You can also upload it to YouTube (with your own visuals, but only the music itself will be judged), Soundcloud or any other similar service.

Then email your link to competition@bunkersamples.com before the deadline.

Please do not email large files directly.

If you decide to share your submission on social media, feel free to tag Bunker Samples and please also use the hashtag #BunkerSamplesCompetition

Thank you and good luck!
